This catalogue contains a select list of GOOD new varieties as well as the best of the older favorites at prices surprisingly low. Nothing added to our prices to allow for misleading discounts and big extra offerings that you often see advertised. Successful growing of the best varieties in quantity, combined with a large volume of business we attribute our low prices to and we invite you to share in its benefits.

Our business is Gladiolus bulb growing exclusively. We have at Seabrook the proper soil and other conditions that enable us to produce bulbs in quality equal to the finest grown and from reports, our stock will grow with equal success throughout the world.

Our crop last fall was well over five million bulbs in order to care for the wants of our fast growing list of customers. Most all New England folks know the quality of SEABROOK NURSERIES GLADIOLUS. Our beautiful, artistic displays are always the sensational feature of the leading horticultural shows and never before has any grower put up such continuous and remarkable exhibitions as we displayed during the past season.

Please note the careful selection of varieties offered. One customer writes that it is refreshing to see a list impartially selected by a competent grower, containing truthful descriptions.

Visitors cordially invited during the summer. We shall have nearly twenty acres for Gladiolus this year and it will well repay you for the trip to come and see what a gorgeous sight the blooms on this massive planting will make.

We are located on U. S. Route 1 on the main highway to Portsmouth, six miles from Newburyport.

Sincerely,

LOUIS G. ROWE, Prop.

Care and Culture of Gladiolus

BULBS should not be planted until corn planting time, as nothing is gained by planting before the ground is warm.

Select a sunny location away from roots of trees and shrubs. In localities where summer is extremely warm, a partially shaded situation is preferable. If your soil is heavy, plant four inches deep, and if light, six inches, having bulbs five or six inches apart.

Place bulbs in a well worked trench in staggar or zigzag rows,—
· · · · ·, and cover at first with about two inches of loam; when shoots begin to appear, work balance of loam into the trench. At all times keep the soil loose. As an aid to producing larger blooms work in fertilizer around the plants when about a foot or more in height and never at planting time. At the time flower spikes appear abundant watering is very beneficial.

Bulbs should be dug as soon as you note the leaves turning yellow. Cut stem off half an inch above bulb, spread them out to dry for two or three days in a sunny location and then place in an open shed or room for two weeks or more before storing them away in a cool, dry cellar. Keep them spread out and not over three inches deep. It is a benefit to give bulbs an occasional sunning or airing during the winter.

When cutting the flowers be sure to leave at least four leaves remaining on the plant. Positive injury to the blooming qualities of the bulb for the following year will occur if this precaution is not heeded.

If you want the blooms for cut flowers, cut the spike when first bud fully opens. The remaining buds will all open nicely and give you a longer period of bloom and greater enjoyment.

Remove wilted blossoms, change water and cut off small portion of the stems each day.

THE bulbs that we offer are $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches and over in size and are considered the best flowering size. The medium bulbs are about one inch and guaranteed to bloom, but cannot be expected to give as large a bloom as the larger bulbs the first year, the texture of the blooms being somewhat softer also. But you will be surprised at the very satisfactory results obtained from one inch bulbs. Many customers prefer buying a new variety in this size as the price is less and at small cost they come into possession of varieties that they would otherwise omit owing to the cost of the larger size. No less than six of the smaller size will be sold unless priced singly. Six bulbs offered at the dozen rate.
